telephone conference, Mr. Hsu and Examiner Roy discussed the present Application, the present Office Action, the cited references, and the present Claims. Specifically, Mr. Hsu pointed out to Examiner Roy that the prior art references do not disclose a metal alloy layer that includes neodymium having a concentration of greater than three percent. Examiner Roy indicated that the after final amendment regarding the concentration of neodymium would not be allowed without a further search of the prior art.

Applicants wish to thank Examiner Roy for taking time for the telephone conference.
